

Terms and Conditions. NPTA - John Barsby Website Design 2010.

- 1) The customer must take all reasonable precautions that they either own or have permission to use any text and images you send through, and accept that John Barsby and NPTA Ltd are not responsible for any infringement howsoever caused and indemnify John Barsby and NPTA Ltd against any breach of copyright or use of material without the owners consent.
- 2) The website design price does not include or in anyway provide for domain names, hosting services and paid listings in directories or search engine databases.
- 3) During the website development, you will be provided with a URL (website address) where view work-in-progress can be viewed (24/7 subject to server availability provided by 1and1.co.uk).
- 4) In order to transfer the finished website to your web server, your web server will need to be capable of accepting file transfers by way of FTP (File Transfer Protocol).
- 5) You agree to forward user ID's and passwords to John Barsby and/or NPTA Ltd to enable the website to be uploaded to your server by way of FTP.
- 6) The finished website will be submitted to the main search engines, but listings and/or positions cannot be guaranteed.
- 7) Strict timescale's for the completion of the website cannot be given.
- 8) John Barsby and NPTA Ltd reserve the right to refuse to add offensive or sensitive material to the website.
- 9) Website Specifications Text Content: The amount of text a customer submit's for inclusion in the website will be no greater than the equivalent of A4 size per page without prior agreement.
- 10) Website Specifications Text Delivery: Text must be supplied by way of email text or by way of a word processor text email attachment.
- 11) Website Specifications Images: If the customer supplies images for use in the website, they should be of the size represented in the colour scheme chosen, and will replace the image shown in the colour scheme chosen by the customer.
- 12) Website Specifications Image Delivery: Images must be supplied by way of an email attachment and only in the following formats; .jpg, .gif, .png, .bmp, .psd, .ai, .pdf.
- 13) Payment for the website of £299.00 confirms you have read and agree with these terms and conditions.